
Sterling

abc

Introduction

Quintessentially English
Eloquent Letterforms
Eminently Versatile
Purity of Form
Elegance and Beauty
Graceful Proportions
Suitably Devised

Introduction

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use.

The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time.

The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold.

Book

British

Book Italic

£6,58

Demi

R&Co

Extra Bold

Extra

Light

Elegant & Refined

Book

Gracious Curves

Book Italic

Ditchling Group

Medium

Quintessentially

Demi

Hopkin's Crank

Bold

Quietly Unique

Extra Bold

Purity of Form

Light

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting

Book

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting

Book Italic

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting

Medium

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting

Demi

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity

Bold

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity

Extra Bold

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical

Light

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally

Book

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen

Book Italic

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen

Medium

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully

Demi

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile

Bold

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently

Extra Bold

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling

Light

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in

Book

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the

Book Italic

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the

Medium

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the

Demi

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British

Bold

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British

Extra Bold

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and

8pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea

9pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry

10pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that graceful

12pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern

8pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open,	modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an
9pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was	eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty.
10pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda	was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a
12pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the	back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are

8pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open,	modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an
9pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was	eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty.
10pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda	was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a
12pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back	of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open,

8pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are	open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de font
9pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came	around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a
10pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production.	Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic,
12pt	Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for	Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the

8pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back

9pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British

Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven

10pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid

12pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and

8pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant

9pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially

10pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger

12pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial

and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight

8pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious

9pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with an uncomplicated clean colour in text setting and equally unfussy in larger environments. The typeface family contains seven weights: Light, Book, Book Italic, Medium, Demi, Bold and Extra Bold. Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has of

10pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to create a unique modern, harmonious and elegant sans serif typeface that was missing from the library at the time. The Foundry Sterling letterforms are open, modern and imbue a purity of strokes, reminiscent of the humanist typefaces of the early 20th century such as Gill, Granby and Johnston. With a subtle, refined quality which is necessary for text use, appearing with typeface

12pt

Foundry Sterling is a functional and eloquent typeface family that has its origins in the desire to create a modern sans design with a quintessentially English flavour. The letterforms have been designed with particular attention to classical proportion and purity of form, resulting in the creation of a functional yet graceful typeface with elegant beauty. Foundry Sterling is an eminently versatile font with a carefully chosen weight range equally applicable to identity, editorial and signage use. The original concepts for Foundry Sterling came off the back of the corporate typeface project 'Brunel' for Railtrack and 'BG' British Gas in 1999. Around this time Stuart de Rozario joined the company as an assistant to aid in the design and font production. Initially, Freda was reluctant to the idea of designing a typeface along the lines of Brunel and British Gas, but with a little gentle persuasion Freda came around to the idea and was eager to

Capitals

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

À Á Â Ã Ä Å Æ Ç È É Ê Ë Ì Í Î Ï Ñ Ò Ó Ô Õ Ö Ø Ù Ú Û Ü Ý Þ ß à á â ã ä å æ ç è é ê ë ì í î ï ñ ò ó ô õ ö ø ù ú û ü ý þ ß

Lowercase

abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz

à á â ã ä å æ ç è é ê ë ì í î ï ñ ò ó ô õ ö ø ù ú û ü ý þ ß

Small caps

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ

À Á Â Ã Ä Å Æ Ç È É Ê Ë Ì Í Î Ï Ñ Ò Ó Ô Õ Ö Ø Ù Ú Û Ü Ý Þ ß à á â ã ä å æ ç è é ê ë ì í î ï ñ ò ó ô õ ö ø ù ú û ü ý þ ß

Ligatures

IJ ff fi fj fl ft ffi ffk ffl ij JJ

Tabular figures

0123456789#$¢£€¥ƒ%%

Proportional lining figures

0123456789#$¢£€¥ƒ%%

Tabular old style figures

0123456789#$¢£€¥ƒ%%

Proportional old style figures

0123456789#$¢£€¥ƒ%%

Superiors, Inferiors
Numerators, Denominators

(0123456789) (0123456789) (0123456789) (0123456789)

Fractions

½ ⅓ ⅔ ¼ ¾ ⅛ ⅜ ⅝ ⅞

Light

Shifting Shifting

Book

flowing flowing

Book Italic

Muffins Muffins

Medium

Latijns Latijns

Demi

IJverig IJverig

Bold

finnish finnish

Extra Bold

fjordic fjordic

Language support

Abenaki,	Croatian,	Ido,	Manx,	Sami Lule,	Tsonga,
Afaan Oromo,	Czech,	Ilocano,	Maori,	Sami Northern,	Tswana,
Afar,	Danish,	Indonesian,	Marquesan,	Sami Southern,	Tumbuka,
Afrikaans,	Dawan,	Interglossa,	Meglenoromanian,	Samoaan,	Turkish,
Albanian,	Delaware,	Interlingua,	Meriam Mir,	Sango,	Turkmen,
Alsatian,	Dholuo,	Irish,	Mirandese,	Saramaccan,	Tuvaluan,
Amis,	Drehu,	Istroromanian,	Mohawk,	Sardinian,	Tzotzil, Anuta,	Dutch,	Italian,	Moldovan,	Scottish Gaelic,	Ukrainian,
Aragonese,	English,	Jamaican,	Montagnais,	Serbian,	Uzbek,
Aranese,	Esperanto,	Javanese,	Montenegrin,	Serí,	Venetian,
Aromanian,	Estonian,	Jerriais,	Murrinhpatha,	Seychellois,	Vepsian,
Arrernte,	Faroese,	Kala Lagaw Ya,	Nagamese Creole,	Shawnee,	Volapuk,
Arvanitic,	Fijian,	Kapampangan,	Ndebele,	Shona,	Voro,
Asturian,	Filipino,	Kaqchikel,	Neapolitan,	Sicilian,	Wallisian,
Atayal,	Finnish,	Karakalpak,	Ngiyambaa,	Silesian,	Walloon,
Aymara,	Folkspraak,	Karelian,	Niuean,	Slovak,	Waraywaray,
Bashkir,	French,	Kashubian,	Noongar,	Slovenian,	Warlpiri,
Basque,	Frisian,	Kikongo,	Norwegian,	Slovio,	Wayuu,
Belarusian,	Friulian,	Kinyarwanda,	Novial,	Somali,	Welsh,
Bemba,	Galician,	Kiribati,	Occidental,	Sorbian Lower,	Wikmungkan,
Bikol,	Ganda,	Kirundi,	Occitan,	Sorbian Upper,	Wiradjuri,
Bislama,	Genoese,	Klingon,	Oshiwambo,	Sotho Northern,	Wolof,
Bosnian,	German,	Kurdish,	Ossetian,	Sotho Southern,	Xavante,
Breton,	Gikuyu,	Ladin,	Palauan,	Spanish,	Xhosa,
Cape Verdean,	Gooniyandi,	Latin,	Papiamento,	Sranan,	Yapese,
Catalan,	Greenlandic,	Latino Sine,	Piedmontese,	Sundanese,	Yindjibarndi,
Cebuano,	Guadeloupean,	Latvian,	Polish,	Swahili,	Zapotec,
Chamorro,	Gwichin,	Lithuanian,	Portuguese,	Swazi,	Zulu,
Chavacano,	Haitian Creole,	Lojban,	Potawatomi,	Swedish,	Zuni
Chichewa,	Han,	Lombard,	Qeqchi,	Tagalog,
Chickasaw,	Hawaiian,	Low Saxon,	Quechua,	Tahitian,
Cimbrian,	Hiligaynon,	Luxembourgish,	Rarotongan,	Tetum,
Cofan,	Hopi,	Maasai,	Romanian,	Tok Pisin,
Corsican,	Hotcak,	Makhuwa,	Romansh,	Tokelauan,
Creek,	Hungarian,	Malay,	Rotokas,	Tongan,
Crimean Tatar,	Icelandic,	Maltese,	Sami Inari,	Tshiluba,

OpenType features

Small Caps
Ligatures
Fractions
Numerators
Denominators
Inferiors
Superiors
Ordinals
Proportional Lining Figures
Proportional Old Style Figures
Tabular Lining Figures
Tabular Old Style Figures

Sterling

xyz